

Orlando Valencia and his Pachanga Latin Band

Pachanga means "Celebration". This high energy Latin band has been entertaining audiences in London and South Western Ontario for many years. The founder, vocalist and guitarist of Pachanga, is Orlando Valencia. Immigrating to Canada from El Salvador with his family 27 years ago Orlando became quickly involved in the London music community. He has been very active in the Latin music scene performing in many of London's local clubs, restaurants and festivals and is a powerful influence in the Latin music scene. Pachanga is a band that thrills and entertains audiences wherever they go performing a diverse repertoire of the music of Latin America. From the Samba of Brazil, the Merengue of the Dominican Republic, to the Cumbia of Colombia and El Salvador and the sizzling salsa of Cuba, Colombia and Puerto Rico, Pachanga will leave you wanting more. They have performed twice with the Calgary Philharmonic Orchestra and Orchestra London.